

Chalongphob Sussangkarn

Thailand Development Research Institute
East Asia - Thailand
email: chalongp@tdri.or.th

Chalongphob Sussangkarn is currently President of the Thailand Development Research Institute (TDRI), a private non-profit policy research institute based in Bangkok. He obtained his Bachelor's degree and Ph.D. in Economics from Cambridge University, UK. His current research interests include macroeconomic policy, economic and econometric modelling, poverty and income distribution, human resources development and transportation policy. Dr. Chalongphob has participated in GDN activities since its first meeting in Bonn. He is also the country coordinator for Thailand for the East Asian Development Network (EADN) and is coordinating an EADN regional research project on "indicators and Analyses of Vulnerabilities to Economic Crises" covering seven economies in East Asia.

Dr. Chalongphob also sits on a number of public sector committees, such as the Public Sector Reform Committee, the Board of the National Statistical Office and the Law Development Committee, and the Office of the Council of State. He is a member of the Executive Board of the Economic Society of Thailand and sits on the advisory panel of a number of journals, such as the Asia-Pacific Development Journal, the ASEAN Economic Bulletin, and the Asian Development Review.